The Carmel Pine Cone

In the smaller picture, Grand Marshal Don Brown applauds two youthful members of the group which won the grand prize. In the background is Fred Keeble, one of the judges and a member of the local chapter of the American Institute of Architects, sponsors of the sand castle contest. Another judge, Steven Sassoon is peering over the young man's shoulder.

Names of the Carmel Gangsters, who came from Clovis, are Anne, Susan and Sayre McFarlane, Ron Wheeler and Don Harrington.

Youth Center Trees Here, Lighting Ceremony Will Take Place Tuesday Night

Two giant Christmas deliveries are due to be made to the Carmel Youth Center today. Hundreds of Christmas trees will make their appearance in the city's corporation yard at Junipero and Fourth and will go on sale immediately. From Saturday until the last tree is sold, members of the Youth Center will be at the lot from noon to 9 p.m. every day, to assist purchasers.

Also due to arrive today is the shiny new Bingmobile, the fourth to be presented to the Carmel Youth Center by the Bing Crosby Foundation. These mobile food serving units will be used in January during the Bing Crosby tournament.

Carmel's Christmas tree at Junipero and Ocean will be lighted for the first time on Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Robert Forbes has organized the tree-lighting ceremony. Pam Baldwin, president of the Youth Center, will introduce Mayor Herbert Blanks. Trumpeters will be directed by Mr. Forbes and the Carmel High School choir will sing under the direction of John Farr.

Following the ceremony, all Carmelites are invited to the Youth Center for coffee.

"Christmas Capers," the Youth Center's gala show of the year, is now in rehearsal. Performances are scheduled for the evenings of December 21 and 22.

Council Advised To Exclude Point From Annexation

Last night, the city council adopted a report of its ad hoc committee on annexation which recommended that the council should not authorize circulation of an annexation petition on Carmel Point at this time. The report did recommend, however, that the council authorize the circulation of annexation petitions in Area One which includes Mission Fields, the Walker Tract and certain lots on the edge of Hatton Fields Mesa; also Area Two which is the Mission Tract.

The council, in addition, decided that the resolution authorizing circulation of annexation petitions in Areas One and Two should include the provision that property owners in the two areas be equally obligated with taxpayers within the city for the payment of general obligation bonds.

At present, the only such obligation is the $575,000 purchase of the Sunset School site for a municipal cultural and community center. Hostelry tax funds have been earmarked for the financing of this bond issue, but as the bonds are of a general obligation type, therefore, should sufficient hostelry tax funds for some reason not be forthcoming, financing of the Sunset purchase would have to be paid with property tax money.

The ad hoc committee report showed that the addition of the two areas would not be a financial boon to the city. Estimated property tax revenue from Area One, should annexation take place, was set at $19,600. Expenses of providing fire and police protection and road maintenance in this area would cost the city $26,284 per year, City Clerk-Comptroller Hugh Bayless estimated.

In Area Two, estimated annual tax income was set at $14,250 with yearly expenditures estimated by Mr. Bayless at $26,014.

The ad hoc committee report found that the southern boundary of both areas should be the southern bank of the Carmel River so that the city could include in its disaster planning the flood plan area at the mouth of the river. Area One would include Carmel Mission Basilica, the Hodges stables, the Carmel Sanitary District

Editor's Column

Last Sunday was a joyous day that long will be remembered by children and teen-agers, also their parents and other members of this community.

For a multitude of persons, young and old, went to Carmel Beach to build sand castles, or watch carefree activity.

The ocean sparkled in warm December sunshine and only gentle breezes blew.

But it will not be the wonderful weather that will be remembered longest. It will be the remembrance of hundreds of persons engaged in happy creativity for no tangible reward—except a seashell on a string—that will re-

Council Objects To Less Bus Service

Two persons objected to curtailment of Bay Rapid Transit Co. service to the city council last night. Additional objections were contained in a letter and a telephone call, City Clerk Hugh Bayless reported.

Spoken objections were made by Mrs. Myrtle Adams and R. Rolleston West. The letter was from Mrs. Violet Ballantyne and the telephone call from Mrs. Edna Humphrey.

Following lengthy discussion, the council voted, with Councilman Stephen Grant abstaining, to authorize the city clerk to communicate the council's objections to any curtailment of bus service to Carmel to the State Public Utilities Commission.

The curtailment particularly affected weekend and evening service between Monterey and Carmel.

Garbage Collection Rates To Be Raised

Garbage collection rates in Carmel will be increased as a result of action taken by the city council last night.

The council authorized preparation of an ordinance which will permit the John Roscelli Corporation to charge $1.75 per month for residential garbage collection, instead of the present $1.25, on condition that no more requests for rate increases are asked by the corporation for five years.

This ordinance should go into effect in March.

The increased rates were allowed because the Roscelli Corporation proved in a financial statement submitted to the council that it was not economically feasible for it to break even under existing rates.

Elio Chiappe, a partner, and George Walker, attorney for the corporation, presented the case for the garbage company.

No. 85

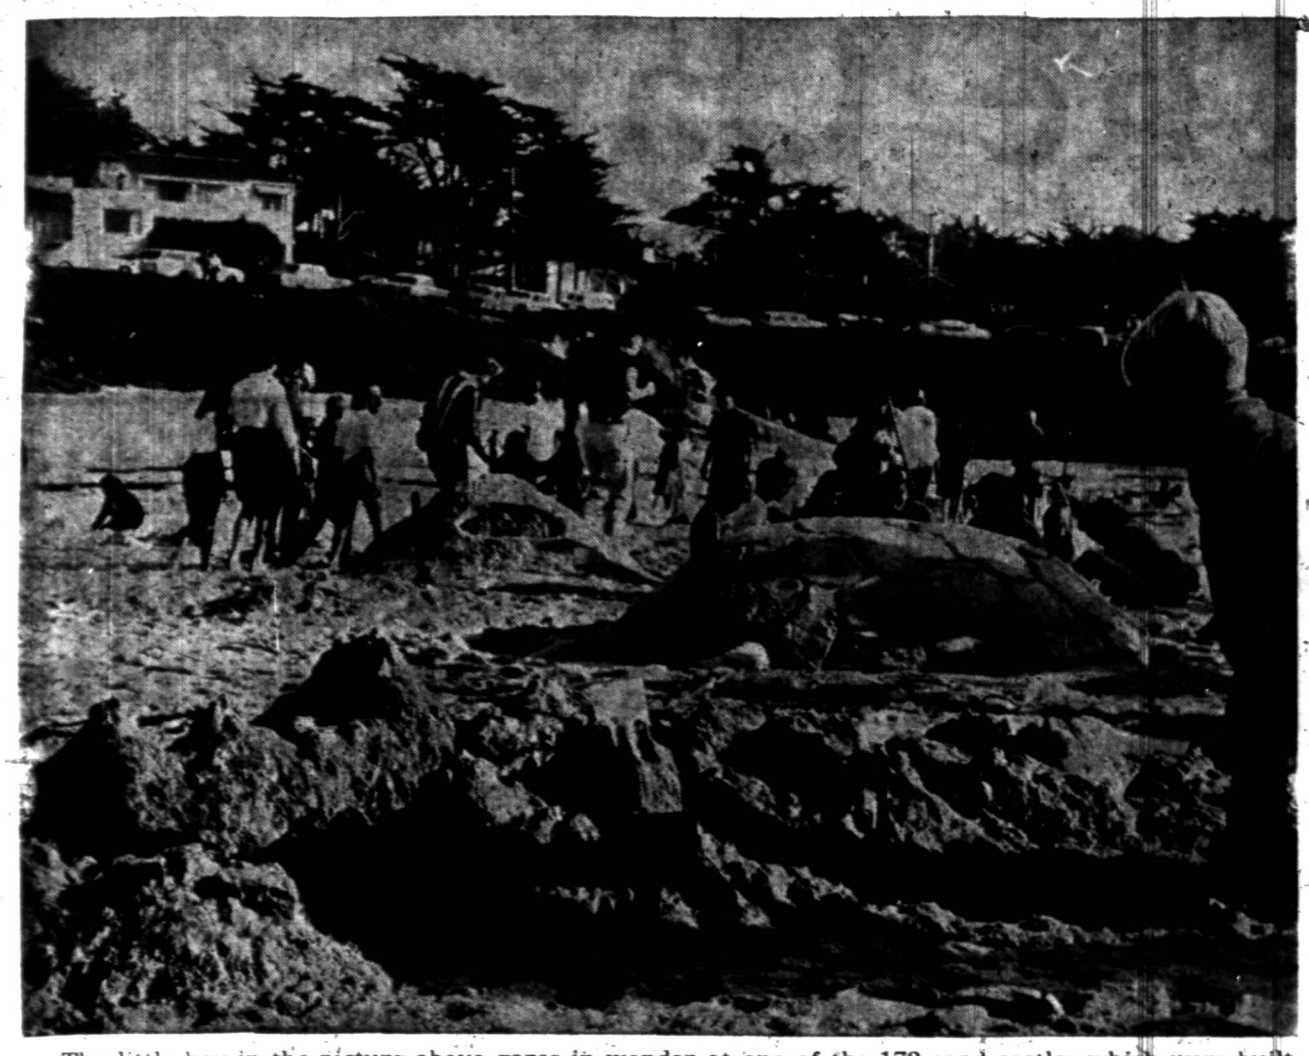

If wishes had a lick of sense,
They'd make themselves come true;
But, since they lack intelligence,
They can't know what to do.

The thing to do is wish out loud
Where someone else can hear;
Like when surrounded by a crowd
Of folks who'll volunteer.

At times like these, a well-placed wish
May bear a lot of fruit,
Repeated and correctly spaced
Where someone thinks it's cute.

But, while you're wishing, listen, too,
For someone's wish made known.
You might by chance help their's come true,
And maybe grease your own.

But, watch your step. I once forgot,
And wished I had a mint.
And that's exactly what I got —
Some candy peppermint!

The little boy in the picture above gazes in wonder at one of the 172 sand castles which were built on the beach on Sunday. Beyond the castle in the foreground is the huge turtle which was another entry. To the left of this is a miniature mountain with reproductions of cliff dwellings built by Indians of the Southwestern United States centuries ago. —Richard Trueblood Photos

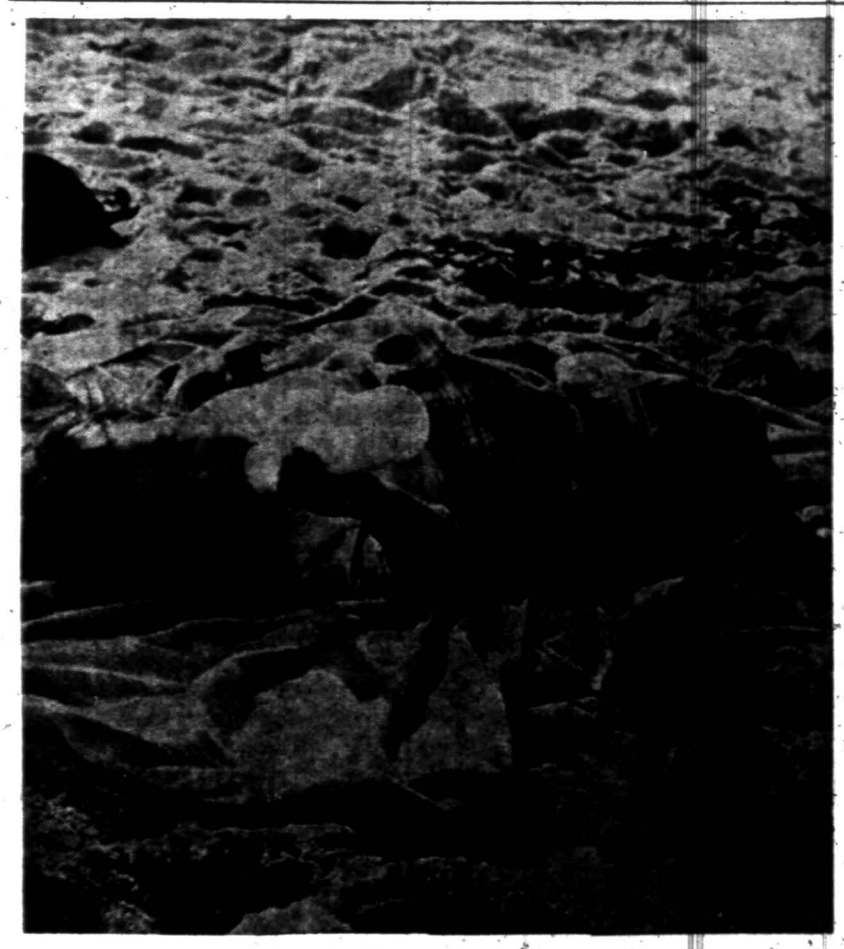

The third Great Sand Castle Contest attracted over 1,000 persons to Carmel Beach on Sunday. This crowd was there to build one of the 172 castles entered in the competition or to watch construction and admire results. Included in the latter classifications were about 100 soldiers who poured onto the beach from two Army buses driving along Scenic Drive.

There were Welsh, Norman, French, Mayan, Aztec, Inca, and "just castle" castles. Pyramids and Indian cliff dwellings were created. A golden retriever's head peered forth from one pile of sand; another framed the smiling face of a little girl. Sphinxes, pharoahs, a medieval knight, and a huge turtle were made from sand. A Roman encampment was reproduced in exact miniature.

The grand sweepstakes prize was awarded to a painstaking reproduction of Mont St. Michel. The most confused castle was built at the foot of Ocean Avenue and necessitated what Judge Fred Keeble termed a great sand-moving operation.

Late in the afternoon Mr. Keeble announced the winners from a rocky promontory and Chief Marshal Don Brown hung an inscribed clam shell around the neck of each victor in each category as onlookers applauded.

It was a day for children, parents, grandparents, uncles, aunts and people who enjoy outdoor community creativity on a white sand beach gleaming under a warm December sun. The Peninsula branch of the American Institute of Architects sponsored this year's sand castle building.

Some of the very youngest sand castle builders on Sunday grew weary as the day progressed into afternoon. The little lady above took time out for refreshment followed by a nap, completely oblivious to the feet of hundreds of persons who passed by.

The winners first, second and third in the various categories were as follows.

Spectacular Castles—Gus Velletri; Connie Hood and Peggy Edwards; Ferm.

Colossal Uncastles—Paul Smith and Wendy Knight; Raney, Stowers, Liv, Fischer and Goeble; Boyle and Tait.

Lichtensteinian Castles — Ginny and Greg Drew; Brown, Brown and Fischer; Judy Snyder.

Nouveau Riche—Susan Arriola; D. Risdon; Joe Shimek.

Those Least Hampered by Adults—Neeson and Bowen; Otter and James; Mike Wells.

Grand Prize—Carmel Gangsters.

Most Confused—Bill Nucoles.

Unhampered by adults, the little girl above intently works on her entry in the third Great Sand Castle Contest on Carmel Beach. There was a special class for youngsters who received no adult help.

ONLY IN CARMEL

Observed By Harry Fletcher

Christmas in Carmel is always different, and the entire Christmas and New Year holiday season engenders a spirit of old world friendliness and geniality almost lost in the commercialism rife in other communities. Relatives and visitors flock into Carmel, for, as they say, "only in Carmel do we find the real Christmasy feeling of good-fellowship even on the streets and in the shops.

One of the problems of Christmas is always how and what to give, the right gift to the right person, and at the right price. For the man in the family, most Carmelites have found the happy solution by simply going to Lincoln Court, which is on Lincoln Street between Sixth and Fifth, and getting all the "man" stuff at Kent of Carmel. Here may be found the finest quality in men's clothing and accessories at comparatively low prices. British tweeds which last for years and years are here at their finest, and every week there is a different bargain offering. Kent also stocks shirts and ties nationally advertised in The New Yorker, as for instance, Atkinson's Royal Irish Poplin neckties in abundance of colors and patterns. The man in your life will be everlastingly grateful if you select his gift at Kent of Carmel.

And for that extra special dinner treat at any time, there is nothing to surpass dining at The Marquis, Carmel's famous gourmet restaurant at the corner of San Carlos and Fourth. Your host, Walter Becker, personally supervises your table and sees to it that your party gets the individual royal service and gracious treatment which makes your dinner an outstanding event in your life. Carmel people have found the food here something so different and so superior that they can readily understand that visiting European royalty prefer The Marquis. The head chef, Werner Kalmus, is Mr. Becker's partner, and with his European culinary training and selection of only finest quality foods, makes it his personal project to see that your meal is a gourmet's delight. I personally recommend that you should make reservations to take your special guests to dinner here. And you'll always be "king" when you take your wife or lady friend out to dine at The Marquis.

There is so much talk about "freedom" these days, what with agitations going on here and abroad, that sometimes one wonders when freedom ceases to be free choice, and when it starts in being unrestricted and unrestrained liberty to the point of foolishness. This even applies to the management of our private lives, because we all know that too much liberty and freedom makes for chaos and tyranny. Naturally, we all like to feel we are free to choose what we do with our own money, and we are, to a great extent. But, we have learned that guidance and direction is necessary, too, to prevent us going off the deep end. As, for instance, investing surplus funds in stocks, shares and securities. This is actually no "do-it-yourself" project as many have learned to their sorrow. So the wise investor seeks proper guidance, such as may be found at the investment counseling firm of Irving Lundborg Co., Dolores Street between Sixth and Fifth. Walk in there any day. It's like a hotel lobby, almost. And, if you want any information, just ask. It does not cost anything to ask questions.

With the wealth of information, entertainment and beauty of illustration found in children's books these days, there should be no problem at all in what to get for that youngster, from age three to twenty. I was amazed at what an abundance of excellent books are on the shelves of The Magic Fishbone, which is right behind The Clam Box on Mission Street, between Sixth and Fifth. Here Mrs. Bruggeman devotes full time to children's books, for all ages. Priceless old time illustrations, besides beautifully modern pictures feature these book selections in wide variety. To attempt to name individual titles and authors would be futile, since there are so many, and priced to fit any purse or occasion. Why don't you pay a visit to The Magic Fishbone and browse through the books there. If you want help, Mrs. Bruggeman will be found a charming and knowledgeable authority to guide you.

New Police Station, City Hall Proposed

It took the city council five hours to work through a lengthy agenda last night. When adjournment came at 1 a.m. the council had referred to the planning commission a report of its lands and improvements committee that recommended placing the police station, corporation yard, building inspector's office on city-owned land on Junipero Street between Third and Fourth avenues.

The report also recommended that the city's municipal offices, including the city clerk, mayor, councilmen and director of planing's offices, also the council chambers, be moved to the north wing of Sunset School after the city takes possession of the school buildings and site.

If it is not feasible for the building inspector's office to be located on the Junipero property, the report proposed that, temporarily, this office should be placed in the old kindergarten building on the Sunset site.

Remodelling of Sunset buildings for municipal offices, also construction of a new police station and corporation buildings on the Junipero land, should be financed in two ways the report stated.

First proposal was that the present city hall and police station sites be sold and the proceeds be used for the new construction with any surplus funds to be placed in the city's capital outlay fund for necessary new furniture and equipment.

The second financing proposal was that either the city hall or police station properties, or both of them, be retained for parking development and new construction be financed by lease-purchase and repaid from hostelry tax funds.

A third alternative for financing was included in the report. This was that the present city hall be retained and the police station sold to partially finance new construction. The remainder of the financing should be provided by lease-purchase, the report proposed. It was felt that this alternative would also require the establishment of a Sunset management office on the school site at additional cost to the city.

A conclusion of the report, prepared by Councilmen James Buffington and Stephen Grant, was that further delay in proceeding with construction of a new police station is unnecessary and not in the best interests of the city.

Letter To Editor

December 7, 1964

Our cultural group, The Carmel Gangsters, wish to thank you for the pleasure of participating in your grand and glorious Sand Castle Contest again. Our pride and delight in winning the Grand Prize was diminished only by the realization that we had deprived another group of the mad and delicious joy of winning.

We, therefore, ask if you would consider another category next year, perhaps "Advanced Sandbox," for us so that we may participate but not compete for the Grand Prize.

We hope to recover soon from our muscle fatigue and hope that the judges soon recovered from the miles and miles of walking with suitable footbaths and hot toddies, or what-have-you, to aid them.

Very truly yours,
Anne McFarlane, Susan McFarlane, Sayre McFarlane, Ron Wheeler and Don Harrington — 1964 participants.

Symphony Concert Was Joyous Musical Evening

By Douglas Taylor

The second concert of the Monterey County Symphony's 19th season provided a capacity audience on Tuesday evening with a most enjoyable program at Sunset auditorium.

We are indeed fortunate to have John Gosling as music director. His control of the orchestra is quite magnetic. There is never a dull moment as pace is one of his salient characteristics.

Charles L. Harlan made a triple contribution to the concert. He wrote the program notes, played tympani and afforded the audience the privilege of hearing the first performance of his "Overture for Orchestra," a work we hope to hear again in order to appreciate its many inherent subleties and "dissonances."

The "Egmont" overture by Beethoven opened the program in good style and its intonation and balance were excellent.

Then came, with two distinguished pianists, Camille Olaeta and Wade Parks, the delicious, satirical "Carnival of the Animals" by Saint-Saens.

This amusing composition was conducted impeccably and played superbly by the two pianists—with great eclat and verve, attack and precision. The famous "Swan" was beautifully executed by Storseth who avoided the pitfall of over-sentimentalizing this luscious tune.

The other solo contributions by various members of the orchestra helped to make this delightful work the piece de resistance of the evening.

After considerable applause, the two pianists changed pianos and brilliantly gave an encore, an excerpt from Darius Milhaud's "Scaramouche."

After intermission, the "Overture for Orchestra" already mentioned was followed by the serious though melodic Symphony No. 4 by Schumann. This symphony is very "listenable" and was performed, in spite of the usual difficulties of under rehearsal, quite competently.

While on shipboard the Congers celebrated two birthdays, Harriet's on October 16 and Mel's on November 9.

"We were in Bislig Bay, in the Philippines for Mel's birthday, Mrs. Conger said, "The ship was loading mahogany logs. A charming woman, from Stateside who lives in the area came aboard and asked if we would enjoy a ride in her car to see the countryside. We accepted her invitation and in return invited her to cocktails aboard ship. The captain in his turn invited the friendly lady and her husband to dinner which was a surprise party for Mr. Conger, and he is still wearing the great straw hat, his gift from the Philippines.

"In Hong Kong, Nan (Stilwell) Easterbrook came aboard, and we chatted about Carmel for hours!"

The Congers had promised Carmel friends to be home for Thanksgiving, but didn't quite make it. They left the ship at Seattle on November 25, rented a car and drove "like mad." But there was snow to cope with, so the turkey with all the fixin's was eaten in Crescent City. "At least," Harriet stated, "We were in the right state!"

CUBS CLEAN BEACH

The top picture, above, shows the pile of trash which 25 members of Carmel Cub Scout Pack 48, aided by Cubmaster Ray Baumann, the pack's steering committee and ten fathers, collected on Carmel Beach on November 21.

It took two hours to clean up the beach. Bottles, tin cans, picnic refuse and discarded cartons were collected from Thirteenth Street to Ocean Avenue, piled high, then carted away in a truck.

The lower picture shows some of the boys receiving directions at the foot of Ocean Avenue before the clean-up.

Dr. Herbert Weisenfeld, one of the fathers in the clean-up group, took both pictures. He also reports that there seemed to be less litter this year than when the Cubs made their annual clean-up a year ago.

The Reverend and Mrs. Burkett Cree are seen above being welcomed to the Peninsula by Miss Florence Waller. Behind her is Dr. Charles N. Pearson, president of the Community Church membership. Next to him is Leonard J. Fletcher, president-elect. In front of Mr. Fletcher is Miss Maude Hook and, at extreme right, F. R. Wheatland.

The picture was taken Sunday afternoon at the reception for the Crees at the Casa Estrada. Two hundred persons greeted the new minister of the Community Church and his wife on this occasion.

Bach's Christmas Oratorio To Be Given At Carmel Mission Sunday

Conducted by John Gosling, the 70-voice Monterey Peninsula College Community Chorus will combine with the Monterey County Symphony Chamber Orchestra to perform Bach's "Christmas Oratorio" on Sunday in Carmel Mission Basilica.

Because the work is so long—some six hours—it will be presented in two sections; parts 1, 2 and 3 at 2:30 p.m.; and after an intermission for dinner, parts 4, 5 and 6 at 8 p.m.

Four vocal soloists will travel from the San Francisco Bay area to participate in the concert: Nance Smith, soprano; June Wilkins, contralto; Orva Hoskinson, tenor; and Marvin Klebe, bass.

Instrumental soloists will include Margaret Fabrizio, harpsichord; MPC faculty member Ray Fabrizio, flute; George Houle, oboe; Ernest Smith, trumpet; and George Nagata, the symphony's concertmaster, violin.

The chorus, which rehearses as an evening division class at MPC, draws its membership from the entire Peninsula. Singers from Carmel are Lillias Adlercron, Zeala W. Broaddus, Marion R. Flaherty, Barbara Hill, Virginia Hill, Nancy G. Larsen, Catherine A. McDonough, Colleen Stohlton, and Helen Wise, sopranos; Eleanor Avila, Violet C. Beahan, Eleanor Catron, Jeanne Chambers, Mary Heifrin, Waltraut Koeth, Nancy S. Lofton, Jean P. Pasmore, Anna Pundt, Judy Ramsey, Virginia Smithson, Dorothy Thorne, Claudine Van Vleet, and Karen Warmbold, altos; Margaret Phillips, George Silkworth and Robert R. Pearson, tenors; Gordon J. Chambers, Norman Disher and John Pasmore, basses.

New Melodrama At First Theatre

The classic early American melodrama, "Tatters, the Pet of Squatter's Gulch" opened last week end at the First Theatre in Monterey where the lurid drama has been a favorite since 1937.

On opening night, the 137th production and the 2,730th performance given by the nationally-known Troupers of the Gold Coast presented a sparkling roster of favorites in the cast which included Doris Cameron in the leading role; Nick Le Feuvre Jr. as her love; also Don Ross, Madeleine Hicks, Bob Statler, Laverne Seeman, Leon Howard, Jim Dooley and Sid Frohman.

Acts in an olio followed the performance of "Tatters" and the traditional sing-along was part of the evening's fun.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

God's perpetual care for man in all facets of his life will be the theme at Christian Science services this Sunday. The Bible Lesson is titled "God the Preserver of Man."

Golden Text: "The Lord is my rock, and my fortress, and my deliverer; my God, my strength, in whom I will trust; my buckler, and the horn of my salvation, and my high tower" (Ps. 18:2).

Related readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include these lines: "We shall obey and adore in proportion as we apprehend the divine nature and love Him understandingly, warring no more over the corporeality, but rejoicing in the affluence of our God" (p. 140).

The history of telephoning is a history of change—from the first commercial shoebox-like phone of 1877 down to the pretty, little Princess phone of today. Telephone scientists are continually at work, developing and testing new ideas in phones of the future—like the one which lets you see the person you're talking to. Every change is made for one reason: to make your telephone serve you better.

On Christmas day, 33 years ago, telephone lines carried the first radio broadcast of a complete opera—"Hansel and Gretel." It was transmitted coast-to-coast from the Metropolitan Opera House in New York.

It's wise to have a list of emergency phone numbers on hand. But, if you don't and need help fast, just dial zero for Operator. She has all vital numbers and the training to meet emergencies. Just give her your name and number and as much information as you can. And, here's a tip for making a "0" call in the dark: The "0" is the first dial opening below the stop bar.

Did you hear about the man who planned to dine at all the restaurants listed in the Yellow Pages of a big city's phone book? Fortunately, he can find REDUCING METHODS in that same book.

Christmas...
a time for joy and thankful prayer for giving gifts to show we care for children's laughs and sparkling eyes and gala feasts and pumpkin pies for songs and carols, old and new and Christmas trees and stockings too for loved-ones traveling far and near to share this special time of year

. . . we telephone employees of Monterey add our "Best Wishes" in every way.

Harold Nielsen Met The Emperor Of Japan At Tokyo Olympic Games

BY CAROLYN ELSTOB

Harold Nielsen, recently returned from a tour of Japan and islands of the South Seas, found superb beauty and amazing contrasts of modernity and antiquity—luxury and poverty—and everywhere warm friendliness and courtesy.

A member of an escorted tour, Mr. Nielsen arrived in Tokyo for the opening ceremony of the 1964 Olympics. He reports . . .

"The vast arena was a miracle of pageantry. The Emperor and Empress of Japan greeted the contestants and spectators in Japanese, and then I had a real thrill, I was presented and shook hands with the rulers. Above our heads, 16,000 pigeons were released, and then an equal number of varicolored balloons. This was the prelude to the appearance of the Atomic Boy, a native of Hiroshima, who was the runner with the Olympic torch and circled the arena.

"At the Okura Hotel I did my best by three menus, European, American and Oriental, and for the Oriental repast I went native, wore a kimono, used chop sticks, and sat upon the matted floor. It was great!"

During five days in Tokyo, the Carmel visitor was greeted by welcoming natives in the shops, along the beautiful avenues and in the night clubs and theatres.

"An evening at the Kokusai Dance Theatre was like a whole chapter out of the Arabian Nights! The theatre itself rivals any I've seen anywhere in the United States. The Japanese art of scene shifting has been recognized by the western world for centuries, but I wasn't prepared to see a volcano erupting before my eyes, nor 150 precision dancers, in exquisite costumes, move as one! Every moment of that evening surpassed all expectations.

"Our visit to Hiroshima was in tragic contrast. While the city, on an inland sea, is today a lively prosperous port there are stark reminders of the atomic bombing. One building that was left standing is now a shrine and there is a museum crammed with tokens of the awesome destruction. We were told that about 80 percent of the inhabitants are new to the area, having come to rebuild the city . . . I found the visit depressing and unforgettable."

In true American tradition, Harold played golf on the famed Kiwan course. But far more exciting, he found, was the visit to see the legendary Hachiman Shrine and the famous Great Buddha, one of Japan's best-known landmarks. Included in his sightseeing in Tokyo were the Imperial Palace Gardens and the Chinzanso Garden Restaurant set in its 17-acre park amid pagodas, temples and rare artistic treasures.

"We traveled south in Japan's newest wonder in locomotion. Created of stainless steel, the train with its marble-floored coaches travels at the speed of 120 miles per hour between Tokyo and Osaka and the Tokyo station is used by some 800,000 persons per day.

"In the south of the story-book country we motored along the coast of the inland sea to Kashikojima where we boarded a pleasure boat for a cruise of Ago Bay. We were accompanied by diving girls who demonstrated pearl diving techniques. And we bought pearls, sight unseen! That is, we bought the shells, opened them up, and sure enough, found at least one, sometimes two, beautiful cultured treasures. The cost? Two dollars per bi-valve!"

Steam baths are a way of life in Japan and it was at Shirahama with its 60-foot Roman plunge and awesome fountain of boiling water that the travelers were initiated.

Before leaving Japan, Harold attended a farewell party at Tokyo's Imperial Hotel. The affair was for members of the travel party who were going in another direction. "It was with real regret that I took my last look at Mt. Fuji and said goodbye to the friendly citizens of Tokyo," he said.

"Hong Kong with its crowds of shoppers in European dress, its great contrasts between people with too much to spend and abject poverty, didn't, for me at least, have the beauty or appeal of Japan, although the harbor is superb. The city itself is thriving, but in the hills above, in full view of the teeming metropolis, there are literally thousands of squatters, most of them escapees from Red China and most of them near starvation. Although the fence that marks the border of Red China is easily visible, no one seemed to find it depressing—I guess it's all in getting used to terror, and making 'putting off the evil day' a habit," Mr. Nielsen observed.

In Hong Kong, Harold was delighted to see the Howard Murphys. And as he entered a shop in Kyoto, he came upon the Leslie Dewars delightedly investing in native silks.

It was in Bangkok that Harold was a dinner guest of General E. C. Easterbrook and Mrs. Easterbrook, the former Nancy Stillwell.

Mrs. Maxwell Taylor was the guest of honor. Her husband, the U.S. Ambassador, was in Saigon. Mr. Nielsen says Mrs. Taylor related stories of her shopping tours to refurbish the embassy. And Nan, the Easterbrook's daughter, had lively tales to tell of the 30 third grade students to whom she is teaching English.

In Bangkok one gets the best buys in the world, of star sapphires and jade. Just how much of an investment Mr. Nielsen made in such jewels he wouldn't tell but he did say that the Thailand silks were irresistible.

Homeward-bound, Harold spent several days in Manila and Honolulu.

"When Margaret Peasley told me of the tour and persuaded me that there were wonders to see, she really understated the unforgettable experience in beauty, in culture, and in contact with peoples, who, now that I have visited them in their own setting no longer seem 'foreign' . . . they are neighbors, just a sky flight away."

The Carmel Community Christmas Sing led by the Carmel Girl Scouts will be on Wednesday from 4 - 5 p.m. in Devendorf Park. The Junior Girl Scouts in the picture are (left to right) Nina Alberts, Terry McFann and Cathy Mything from Troop 2035. They are practicing Christmas carols they will sing next week.

The Girl Scouts will sing for the first half hour and then ask those listening to join with them in singing for the remaining time. In case of rain the "Sing" will be held at the Carmel Craft Studios.

NEW L'ALLIANCE SCHOLARSHIPS

L'Alliance Francaise of the Monterey Peninsula has undertaken an ambitious scholarship project according to Mrs. Jerome Carlson, president of the group.

This year, L'Alliance hopes to present two large scholarships to Peninsula students. One of these will provide funds for a student to spend a summer in France. The other will finance the expenses of a student at the summer session of the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies.

Mrs. August Armanasco has been appointed chairman of an advisory council which will work to achieve the above objectives.

Versatile Artist Ralph Jacobs Now Exhibiting In His Own Studio-Gallery

BY HARRY W. FLETCHER

How would you like to see an exhibition of oil paintings containing under one roof samples of Vermeer, Rubens, Van Dyke, Degas, Renoir, Van Gogh, Gainsborough, Rembrandt, Hals, El Greco, Titian, Van Eyck, and others? Where, you may ask? Certainly not anywhere but in some important national museum of art.

Yet, believe it or not, you can see such a collection very close to Carmel. And, more remarkable still, it is all the work of one artist who came to the Peninsula in 1935, but has been painting, exhibiting and selling his productions since he was 13 years of age.

Ralph Jacobs, originally of Fresno where he attended public schools, has won numerous awards, is a member of the Council of American Artists Societies, was chosen guest artist to exhibit his work in the American Artists Professional League traveling show, and has had exhibitions in the de Young Museum in San Francisco where one of his paintings still remains. He also is represented in many private and public collections ranging from South America to Beirut, Lebanon. He has been accorded one-man shows, among them being Villa Montalvo, Ampex Corporation, Cunningham Memorial Gallery, Rosicrucian Egyptian Museum, Stanford Research Institute, etc. He has also exhibited at the de Saisset Museum, and most recently at the Council of American Artist Societies First National exhibition at Lever House in New York City.

Mr. Jacobs' gallery studio is at 1340 Munras Avenue, at Via Buena Vista, once the studio home of the late artist Burton Boundey. He also resides there with his mother, Mrs. Julia V. Jacobs. Ralph studied briefly with Evelyn Nadeau, Frederic Taubes, and Abel Warshawsky. With remarkable inborn talent, he is largely self-taught, but one gets the impression that Jacobs must have spent many, many years with the greatest teachers in history.

Paintings in the gallery are for sale, and commissions are accepted. Visitors are welcomed daily 10:30 to 4:30 including Sundays and holidays.

Jacobs has been commissioned to do portraits, landscapes, seascapes, still life, and murals. He is one of the few painters who is making his entire living from the sale of his works. Latest among his numerous awards was the first prize in the 33rd Annual Statewide exhibition last April. His prize-winning painting, "The White Pitcher," was selected to be reproduced in Book IV of Prize-Winning Paintings of 1963, published by Allied Publications, Inc., of Florida. Every painting he has is truly a masterpiece, which has to be seen to be believed. What this great artist will accomplish in the years to come, since he regards each picture completed as "a challenge to do even better," will earn for him a niche in the world's hall of fame.

Unassuming, even diffident, Ralph Jacobs is unquestionably endowed with a talent which can only be described as an inheritance from the old masters.

Your PG&E bill goes up in the winter, too.

Colder temperatures and longer nights increase your use of gas and electricity for heating and lighting your house. You spend more time indoors reading, cooking hot meals, using radio and TV sets and appliances. And that means a bigger PG&E bill. (In the spring, your bill starts down again.) But since 1961, there have been three major reductions in PG&E rates. Today the typical customer pays less than thirty years ago for the same amount of gas and electricity. Which means, whatever the season, PG&E service is a bigger bargain than ever.

Returns For Winter

Mrs. Alfred Maschke of Cleveland, Ohio, has again returned to spend the winter in Carmel. She is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lofton until remodeling of her house on Scenic Drive is completed.

Centuries Old Tree Is Base Of Fountain At New Valley Club

In the brisk winter sunshine of last weekend, 2200 Northern Californians, including state, county and city officials, golf enthusiasts, and many who went along for the fun, enjoyed lavish hospitality and a tour of the new Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club during three days of "open house."

Two and a half miles up Carmel Valley from Highway One, the club occupies 245 acres of level terrain where the Carmel River, nine fresh-water lakes and the Santa Lucia mountains create a spectacular background.

Completed just in time for the open house was the unique fountain in the entrance court, indeed a bit of California lore. The fountain's base, a great square block of redwood, is part of a tree found when the club landscapers were creating a lake. Fifteen feet below the ground surface they came upon the 110-foot tree that measured three feet across. The property upon which the tree was found belonged to Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Williams. (Mrs. Williams is a member of the pioneer Hatton and Martin families). Research showed that 102 years ago there were no redwoods in the area. So, the beautiful contemporary fountain that club members and their guests see today must be several centuries old.

The clubhouse, designed by architects and planners Hall and Goodhue, is a rambling split-level building, characterized by its informal warmth and uncomplicated accessibility. The spacious foyer, offices, bar and dining room are on the main entrance level. Down a few wide steps are the luxurious locker rooms, showers and delightful lounging rooms for the golfers; plus a superbly equipped pro shop that is stocked, not only with the golf playing essentials, but with sportswear classics for both men and women from the nation's top makers.

The color motif throughout the clubhouse is a warm deep gold and hot orange. Wide windows everywhere look out upon the emerald green of the fairways and the blue swimming pool, lakes and sky.

While enjoying the champagne and buffet at the three-day reception, the crowds of guests learned, from President Edgar Haber, his board members and staff, that applications for membership have already come in from New York, Massachusetts, and Texas, as well as from all states on the West Coast. Eleven homes are currently under construction on the club grounds, their owners from all parts of the country, including Hawaii. Social and non-resident membership (limited) have very nearly reached the saturation point.

The Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club directors in addition to Mr. Haber, are John H. Lohman, vice president; James L. May, vice president; Myron E. Etienne Jr., secretary; George H. Shafer, treasurer, and Judge Richard Eldred.

H. S. McGuckin

A resident of Carmel Valley for the past 44 years, Herbert S. McGuckin died on December 3 following a brief illness.

Born in New York City, March 4, 1911, Mr. McGuckin was brought here by his parents at the age of nine years. He attended local schools and was employed for many years by the Peninsula Van Lines.

Mr. McGuckin was a member of the Monterey Lodge, No. 1285, BPOE.

In addition to his wife, Marie, he is survived by a son, Lee McGuckin of Carmel, a member of the Carmel Fire Department; a brother, Edmund B. McGuckin of Evergreen Park, Illinois, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services were held on Saturday in the Dorney and Farlinger Memorial Chapel, with the Monterey Elks Lodge officiating.

Make Your Playground of Today Your Home of Tomorrow

WHAT'S A WEST WALL WORTH? This particular west wall is a living mural of the sea in its endlessly fascinating moods, framed by rare old cypress. Old-fashioned Carmel charm and character in the house, the guest house, the walled garden, yet all appointments are new and modern. Across the street from the ocean and a few blocks from the village—what's this west wall and accessories worth to you? The owner says $59,500.

YOU COULD GET OUT YOUR HELICOPTER and hover about 1000 feet above Carmel to get the sweeping view of lovely Carmel Bay, Pt. Lobos, the valley mountains, and even Santa Cruz. As an alternative, you could buy our 5 acre retreat exactly 5 minutes each from Carmel and Pebble Beach. It has a small, unpretentious house built to take advantage of the view, easy care grounds. Ideal vacation property now; build a dream house later. The price is only $69,500. Let us show you the top of the world; it's much cheaper than getting out the helicopter.

CARMEL IS THE IMPOSSIBLE. They said, come now, you can't build a house on that lot without cutting down the magnificent oak trees. But the owner said "Architect, spare those trees. And furthermore, do it without scrunching the house into a little corner of the lot." And so he did. And so we offer the most original and delightful 2 bedroom contemporary, complete with oak trees, close to the village and the beach, for only $52,500.

A GRAND OLD LANDMARK HOME—Sprawled on two acres on a hill with the whole natural world and the ocean spread out at your feet. Built like a rock, two stories, two great fireplaces, five bedrooms with fabulous closets and five baths. Hardwood floors need a polish, millwork needs rubbing up, the whole house could stand a paint job, but the lovely garden is already inhabited with songbirds to cheer you on in the real labor of love it would be to restore this fine old judge's residence. The price is $60,000.

A TRANQUIL RETREAT—swim in a clear pool on top of a mountain with the incredible panorama of the Santa Lucias spread out before you. For your further pleasure, the above indoor-outdoor house provides the perfect facilities for entertaining. It's not a family house—only one beautiful bedroom—but it's on three acres and you can expand it as much as you like. This knoll has the best view in Carmel Valley, where it's sunny enough to swim almost any time. Price $52,500. Details?

New President of Bach Festival Welcomes 'Skip' Lloyd To Board

At a meeting Monday night, Ted Durein was elected president of the Bach Festival board of directors. He succeeds Peter Ferrante who has been the board's president for the past two years and will continue to serve as a director.

Other Bach Festival officers elected Tuesday are Arthur Dahl, first vice president; Mrs. Harwell Dyer, second vice president; Brooks Clement, third vice president; Arthur Lehmann, treasurer; and the Reverend H.M.M. Nicholas, secretary.

Mr. Durein welcomed a new director to the board. He is Francis P. "Skip" Lloyd, a third generation Carmelite. His grandfather, the late Dr. Francis E. Lloyd, established a home in Carmel over 50 years ago. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lloyd. Mr. Durein said it was good to see the younger generation carrying on the traditions of Carmel, of which the famed Bach Festival is one.

In addition to those already mentioned, Bach Festival directors are Fritz Wurzmann, Professor John Brock, Mrs. Arthur Dahl, Mrs. Leonard Klene, Mrs. McCormac Bunting, Mrs. Alfred de Martini, John Castello, Charles O'Gara, Mrs. Charles Dowdell, Dr. Mast Wolfson, Mrs. Nancy Ness Bowman, Mrs. Alexander Albert and Mrs. Walter Lehmann.

Dates of the 1965 festival are July 16 through 25. Sandor Salgo will be conductor and musical director for the tenth year. Mrs. Michel MacKay is the festival's full-time executive secretary.

Carl Bosholm Heads Business Association

Carl Bosholm is the new president of the Carmel Business Association.

Also announced as officers for the coming year at the annual Christmas party of the association at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club on December 3 were Gordon Reid, vice president; Pete Tersol, treasurer; and Rosemary Miller, executive secretary. Isabel Tostevin, outgoing president will serve in an ex officio capacity.

Mr. Bosholm is also the current chairman of the Carmel Chapter of the American Red Cross. A resident of Carmel for the past 12 years, he is manager of Svensgaard's Lodge, a motel on San Carlos Street.

He says he thinks his new office "will be a grand opportunity for service to the local community." He is looking forward to co-operating with the business people of Carmel and establishing a possible liaison council between businessmen and residents.

In addition to those mentioned above, directors of the business association for the coming year are Malcolm Foster, Phil Coniglio and Glen Harnish, one-year terms; Mel Campbell, L. H. Staples and William Ober, two-year terms; Margaret Berry, Don Crosby and John Cunningham, three-year terms.

WELL BABY CLINIC

On December 17, the Carmel Well Baby Clinic will be held in the chapter house of the American Red Cross at Dolores Street and Eighth Avenue. The clinic will continue to be in the same location on the third Thursday of every month.

Dr. Le Grand Woolley will be the pediatrician in attendance. He will be assisted by Barbara Brown, a public health nurse, and Mrs. Clem Ale.

and Carmel River Inn.

The recommendation to exclude Carmel Point from annexation consideration was made, the report stated, on the fact that "based on the recent ad hoc committee hearing with residents of Carmel Point, there appears that there is an overwhelming opposition to annexation, and, at this time, a general unwillingness to consider the pros and cons of annexation."

However, in its recommendation to the council, the ad hoc committee composed of councilmen Eben Whittlesey and Stephen Grant, stated, "in recognition of the interest among a number of old residents of Area Three (Carmel Point), the denial of the request at this time should be made without prejudice to the consideration of a renewed request at any time in the future when changed conditions suggest the desirability of such a move."

The report recommended that the council authorize the circulation of annexation petitions in Areas One and Two because "there is a substantial interest in annexation. In these areas there appears to be a general willingness on the part of those presently opposed to annexation to consider and enquire into the facts.

The council, last night, was at Step Four of the 38 legal steps which must be taken to effect an annexation to the city. At their next meeting they will complete this step by either authorizing, by resolution, the circulation of petitions in Areas One and Two, or refusing to adopt this resolution and thus end all annexation procedure in the two areas.

Mayor Blanks, last night, pointed out that annexation petitions, if authorized by the council, must, by law, be circulated by persons living within the areas to be annexed.

Mr. Whittlesey indicated that there is still the possibility open to Carmel Point residents of annexing to the city by blocks, if these blocks are contiguous to the city.

Tree Day

Seedling pines and Sierra redwoods will be given away Saturday morning at the post office parking lot from 8:30 o'clock until noon, Robert D. Strum, chairman of the Carmel Forestry Commission, announces.

Carmel Girl Scouts and Brownies will help the commission with their "tree day" community reforestation project.

Directions for planting and taking care of the trees will be distributed to those accepting the commission's free seedlings. Further information may be obtained from City Forester Hugh Smith or Commissioner Richard Hittinger.

Through "tree days," forestry commissioners hope to maintain and enhance Carmel's urban forest by the reforestation of private property. The city takes care of tree planting on public land.

Editor's Column . . .

main for years to come in the minds of those who took part in any way in the third Great Sand Castle Contest.

There is a great deal of talk about preserving the atmosphere of Carmel; keeping this city unique; free from unwanted great commercial developments. Laws are considered and passed to implement this talk; save the character of the community.

In spite of this, some still prophesy that in years to come Carmel will be nothing but a shoddy tourist trap—maybe even the beach will be invaded by commercialism!

But last Sunday long will be remembered. Children who built sand castles that day and grow up and live in Carmel will strive to preserve the atmosphere of a community where a seashell on a string is a treasured award.

And as long as there are members of the community who give time and thought to providing days such as Sunday for these youngsters to remember, Carmel will always be unique.

Also, as long as children and teen-agers, also their parents and other members of this community, cherish the memory of Sunday's shared enjoyment, the character of Carmel is not truly threatened.

It's sad there aren't more such memories being created, also sand castles, in other parts of this troubled world. M.L.

City May Cancel Fire Aid Agreement

City Attorney John Morse was authorized by the city council last night to contact State Division of Forestry officials and explore what can be done from the legal standpoint to clarify the mutual fire protection aid agreement between the city and the state.

If it is not possible for the mutual aid agreement to be amended to conform with the city's responsibilities to the state as expressed in two resolutions adopted by the council subsequent to 1959, the council will then consider terminating the mutual aid agreement, within 15 days, it was stated last night.

Date by which the clarification must be effected was set as February 3, 1965.

This action came about because state forestry officials have, presumably, been misrepresenting the city's obligation by terms of the mutual aid agreement in regard to structural fires in unincorporated residential areas.

The council's policies state that the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department shall not respond to any fire in the unincorporated areas surrounding the city unless such a fire occurs in an area not already covered by other mutual aid agreements with the state.
